CHORTITZER SLAUGHTERHOUSE INDUSTRY

8:00 AM - 9:30 AM - LOMA PLATA

TOPICS:

- Harvesting and storage of water; sewage treatment.
- Waste management.
- Arrival of the animals.
- Animal welfare.
- Animal identification.
- Traceability.
- Supplier monitoring.

It is located 450 kilometers from Asuncion in the middle of the central Chaco with an annual rainfall of about 800 to 900 mm per year. The industry had a slaughter capacity of 600 to 800 animals per day and had been working normally until 2019, when it suffered a fire that left it unable to operate for 6 months. It resumed its activities after repairing, modernizing and expanding it in 2020.

In this area, the rainwater collection system for industry use is very interesting. There are more than 100 hectares of rainwater collection channels that are stored in large reservoir tanks for use in normal industry operations. We will also see the wastewater treatment system carried out by the industry itself as part of its environmental protection program.

The itinerary may be subject to minor modifications.

CHACO BREEDING SYSTEM

10:00 AM - 12:00 LOMA PLATA

We will visit a cattle farm that carries out a typical calf rearing in the central Chaco with sustainable production practices. It basically consists of the implantation of a pasture with native trees in it, which gives it the characteristic of a rotating silvopastoral system.

The producers from Chaco use improved breeds adapted to the Chaco region, on implanted pastures, with the system of forest reserves of 25% plus windbreaks and riverbed protection, which represents more than 40% of areas without livestock intervention within the property.

EXPERIMENTAL FARM

14:30 AM - 16:00 AM - FILADELFIA

Founded in 1947 with the help of an American institution to promote agricultural development in the Central Chaco area. Site of the first trials to enable bush land use and the establishment of pastures, the oldest protection strips are on this site. Today it is an animal genetics center, it produces bovine and equine breeders.

The itinerary may be subject to minor modifications.

DAY 2

PURE BREEDING ANIMALS RAISED ON PASTURE

16:30 PM - 18:00 PM FILADELFIA

We will visit the field of Mr. Alfred Fast. In this ranch, the production of pure pedigree breeders is carried out in pastures. This is a differentiated line of production characteristic of the Chaco, based on genetics with a high level of adaptation, efficient management of pastures, forest reserves, water management and integration with wildlife.

CHACO PRESENTATION

19:00 PM - 20:00 PM - FLORIDA HOTEL

We will know:

- History, production and industries
- Geography,
- Social and environmental issues.
- Wildlife.
- Indigenous communities.

Conducted by local experts.

20:00 PM DINNER AT FLORIDA HOTEL

The itinerary may be subject to minor modifications.

NEULAND COOPERATIVE

8:00 AM - 9:30 AM - NEULAND

We will visit the central office of the Neuland cooperative, one of the three large cooperatives established in the central Chaco by Mennonite settlers. We will know its environmental management plan, where the entire area that belongs to the cooperative of more than 300,000 hectares carries out an integral management of livestock production with environment practices.

FORAGE SUPPLEMENTATION FOR CRITICAL TIMES

10:00 AM - 12:00 AM - NEULAND

We will visit a Chaco producer from the colony who, within his process of adapting to the conditions of the Chaco for sustainable livestock production, supplements the animals in the field in critical times (drought, frost, etc.) with the production and administration of hay, silo and deferred pasture management.

INDIGENOUS - MENNONITES INTEGRATION SYSTEM

14:30 PM - 16:00 AM - YALVE SANGA

Three large social groups are working and coexist in the central Chaco: the Mennonites, the indigenous and the so-called Latinos. As part of its social responsibility, the Mennonite community has a strong collaboration, through the ASCIM, with the local indigenous population in the aspects of Education, Health and Work and is considered a model of integration and social cooperation between communities.
